

ABSTRACT OF DISCLOSURE.

This invention will provide the user with the same or better level knowledge of a locally based tour guide, no matter where they travel. The user will not have to follow a predetermined tour route, or plan ahead and request local information. All the descriptions of all the types of attractions the user has expressed interested in will be automatically presented to him as he approaches those attractions.